

Wolfgang Pleyer

Partner

Mr. Wolfgang Pleyer is one of the Partners and Co-Founder of d-fine GmbH, a leading European financial services consulting firm focusing on quantitative and system integration projects. Previously he was Senior Manager at Arthur Andersen's "Financial and Commodity Risk Consulting" (FCRC) group in Germany. He was instrumental in developing the group from a few specialists to the 250+ strong consulting practice that d-fine is today.

Mr. Pleyer managed a variety of projects for banks and asset managers dealing with trading systems (front- and back-office), market risk (including infrastructure components, e.g. market data repositories) as well as accounting / controlling topics.

Mr. Pleyer holds a Masters' equivalent degree (German "Diplom") in Computer Science and Business Administration from the Technical University of Darmstadt and the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. He started his professional career with US bank JP Morgan in New York, Frankfurt and London, where he headed several groups in the "middle office" area. After his promotion to „Vice President“ he worked as a senior project manager on the reengineering of European support activities for Investment Banking.
