d-fine, the renowned financial risk management consultancy, strengthens its management team with two partners from Roland Berger

Text

As of 1 November 2009, Dr Arndt Dombert and Dr Christoph Burmester will take up new positions as Managing Directors at d-fine. Both are experts in risk management for the finance industry, with many years experience between them in risk strategy and risk governance.

During the last five years, they have used this expertise as partners at Roland Berger Strategy Consultants to set up the "Financial & Risk Effectiveness" department. This has since developed into an important specialist area, with a strong network of contacts amongst board members and the top management teams within banks and insurance companies.

The move to d-fine of Arndt Dombert, a PhD holder in Business Science, and Christoph Burmester, a PhD holder in Physics, reflects changing client expectations. To acquire and execute durable and successful projects in the risk area, the complete value chain - from risk strategy via concepts to professional implementation - is expected from the consultants. For d-fine and its integrated consultancy, both new Managing Directors represent important reinforcement for future expected expansion.

With over 250 consultants, d-fine is one of the leading European consultancies in the risk management area with a special focus on the finance industry. The company ranks amongst the 25 largest management consultancies in Germany.
