Hidden champions of the consulting market 2024/25: d-fine awarded for the third time in the field of data & analytics

The German Scientific Society for Management and Consulting (WGMB) awards the "Hidden Champion of the Consulting Market" every two years. Thanks to its strong expertise, ranging from classical data science to innovative AI methods, d-fine has convinced the jury for the third time in a row in the category of "data & analytics".

The Hidden Champions are considered the oldest quality seal for consultants in Germany. The nomination is exclusively based on recommendations from an independent expert panel consisting of professionals from academia and industry.

Proactive applications are not possible. The decisive factor for placement is a positive customer vote, obtained through structured surveys conducted by the team led by Prof. Fink.

The projects of d-fine, ranging from data platforms, AI, self-service BI, streaming, CI/CD, metadata and governance solutions, to the establishment of neutral data trustees according to the European Data Act, convinced the jury.

With more than 1,500 experts, predominantly with an academic background in physics, mathematics, and computer science, d-fine is ranked among the top 10 consulting companies in Germany according to the Lünendonk List and is a leader in the field of data science.
